

Delaware Air National Guard – 166th Airlift Wing

One of the greatest benefits of military service is the sense of family and community that develops between service members and those who work to support them and their families. Each service provides a variety of programs and resources designed to assist military families throughout every phase of the military lifecycle. This support is critically important when service members return home from a deployment and when they are serving while at home.

The Airman & Family Readiness Center serves as a one-stop information and referral center for single, married, Active Duty, Guard, Reserves, retired members, spouses and families. One of our major functions is offering connections – ensuring military personnel and their families are connected with the appropriate services both on and off base.

The Delaware Air National Guard's Airman & Family Readiness Center offers services and programs through classes and groups, to units and individuals, in a wide variety of topics. Some of the services provided include the following:

- Community Resources
- Employment Assistance
- Personal & Work Life
- Family Readiness
- Personal Financial Readiness
- Relocation
- Transition Assistance Program
- Volunteer Services

Our Airman and Family Readiness Office, as well as the staff of the State Family Program, are here to support all members of the Delaware National Guard Family. Our staff is looking forward to getting to know you and assisting in any way possible. We are here to help you.

Please contact us any time!

166th Airlift Wing, Airman and Family Readiness Center (A&FRC)
1st Lt. Lauren Mease, Airman and Family Readiness Program Manager
(302) 323-3327